

An update on WLB's business preparedness support for the Coronavirus COVID-19 outbreak ...and West London at MIPIIM 2020

Dear colleague,

Prime Minister Boris Johnson reflected after chairing an emergency COBRA meeting this afternoon that the virus is "likely to become more significant in the days and weeks ahead", making business resilience planning a priority.

To this end, WLB has a Coronavirus Business Support resource, which the team are constantly updating with the latest information from the WHO, UK Government and other relevant sources, such as ACAS and Resilience First. This particularly focusses on resources suitable for businesses, including HR guidance.

I would encourage you to continue to monitor this resource, which we will be updating at least once daily.

WEST LONDON AT MIPIIM 2020

Over the weekend the organisers of the MIPIIM property conference, Reed MIDEM, decided to postpone MIPIIM 2020 until early June 2020 as a precaution against the Coronavirus outbreak.

We are rescheduling our West London MIPIIM events for Mon 1- Fri 6 June in Cannes and will advise of the details once we have finalised our new plans. Obviously the health and wellbeing of MIPIIM delegates and the wider community is essential.

Otherwise our upcoming events programme (including the West London Spring Property Lunch on Friday 27 March) remains unchanged; we hope to be on the otherside of Coronavirus by the end of the month.

Any WLB member or supporter wishing to have a catch-up should not hesitate to contact their Relationship Manager in the WLB team.

The situation around Coronavirus continues to evolve daily and we will of course share any essential resources as these become available.

Best wishes,

Andrew Dakers

Chief Executive
